Admiral Lord Mountbatten first coined the phrase 'a brilliant little operation' when he wrote "Of the many brave and dashing raids carried out by men of Combined Operations Command, none was more courageous or imaginative than Operation Frankton."

On the occasion of the 70th anniversary of Operation Frankton and the war-time raid by the Cockleshell heroes on German shipping in Bordeaux

Bradley' Bookshop in Bordeaux, in collaboration with the Centre Jean Moulin, invite you to a presentation of the book by the author, followed by a book signing. The presentation will take place at the Musée de la Résistance

On Thursday 6 December 2012 at 16.30

Copies of the book will be on sale
